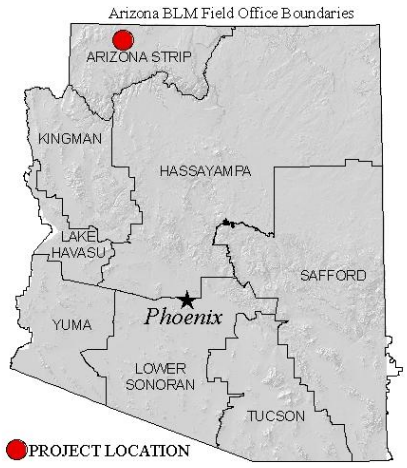
Arizona Strip Field Office Trail Repairs

Need

The Bureau of Land Management's (BLM) Arizona Strip Field Office Trail Repair project is located in the Grand Canyon-Parashant National Monument. The work on this project includes trail maintenance and repairs throughout the monument to control erosion and to address visitor safety concerns. The project includes the Mt. Trumbull, Mt. Logan, Grand Wash Bench, Paiute Wilderness and the Nampaweap Trails. These trails provide recreational access to popular scenic attractions and cultural sites throughout the Monument.



Recovery Act Funding

American Conservation Experience (ACE) received a cooperative agreement in the amount of $43,200 to perform this work. The trails crews arrived in May to begin work.

Benefits

Upon completion of this project, trail users in the Grand Canyon-Parashant National Monument will enjoy a safer and much improved recreational experience. Much of the trail maintenance will be performed by youth-oriented organizations in an effort to provide employment and learning opportunities for young people.

More Information

Trail closures are not expected, because repairs, clearing and maintenance will be completed quickly.
